the Willerbee

In 1946 a Hull man called Walter Allen used to make beehives for a living. In a moment of inspiration he decided to build holiday homes and Willerby was born. Here we are in 2017, over 70 years later, still going strong, so the Willerbee is a little nod to say thanks to the man who made beehives.

PROUD TO BE MADE IN YORKSHIRE

A lot has changed since Willerby was established in 1946 but one thing remains the same, the pride that our staff have in our holiday homes and lodges.

Our people are genuinely passionate about what they do, from those who travel the globe to capture the latest design innovations, to those who ensure your holiday home is in perfect condition before it leaves our site.

We employ only the very best designers, engineers and craftsmen - many of whom have been with us for decades.

There's a reason we're still going strong after seventy years. It's all in the detail.

DESIGN INSPIRATION AND CREATIVE FLAIR...

We produce the widest range of holiday homes and lodges in the industry - all with beautiful and distinctly different interior design schemes. But how do we do it?

Latest trends

Gone are the days when holiday home interiors were 10 years behind the curve. We now closely follow the latest trends - taking inspiration from high street names like John Lewis, Next & Laura Ashley, and regularly checking out the newest innovations at interior design shows across the globe.

Creating the look

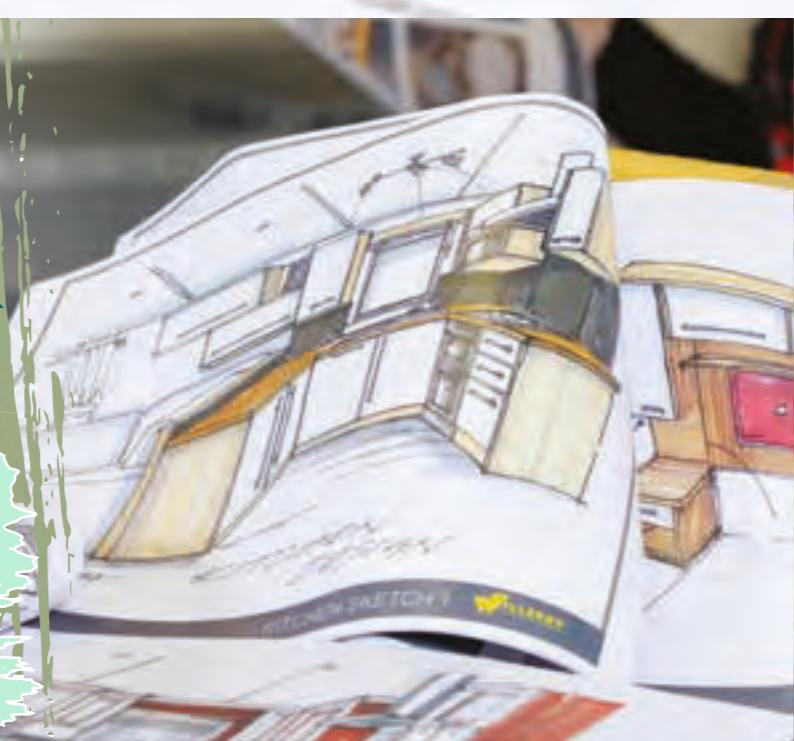

Our designers pull together images they've found inspirational, creating a mass of concept design images that together make a 'Look Book' for each new model - a kaleidoscope of furniture types and styles, materials and colours. This is just one of the ways we ensure everything in your holiday home blends together seamlessly.

Traditional methods

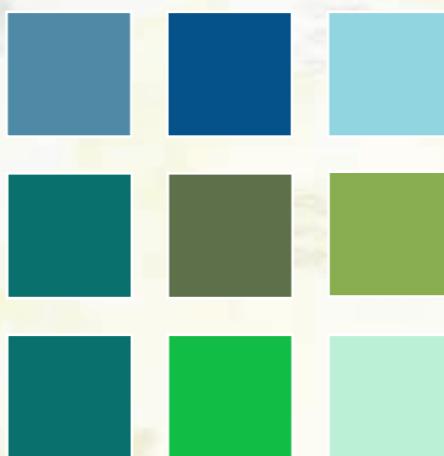

Whilst our designs may be bang on trend, the traditional method of sketching is still a massive part of what our designers do, outlining the look they want to create. Next they start to look at specific shapes and styles of furniture, and then more closely at the finer details - cupboard handles, kitchen taps etc.

Wide appeal

Sue Brodie, creative lead at Willerby, explains: 'We try to spread colour palettes evenly across the models, so that we have a portfolio that appeals to all tastes.' Creating that wide appeal is fundamental to Sue's department - all our processes are designed to ensure that there really is a perfect Willerby holiday home for everyone!

Colour palette

Designs done... what happens next?

From the design department's drawings, a chain of work processes begin.

The designs are drawn up with precise measurements and construction details - right down to deciding where each screw is positioned. Another team plans how the raw materials should best be cut to avoid waste, and another considers the design from a production perspective i.e. the practicalities of putting it all together.

Finally our prototype team build a prototype model allowing us to do all our final checks. Then it's onto the production line!

Thank you to Park & Holiday Home Inspiration magazine for the collaboration on this article.

CREATING YOUR PERFECT HOME FROM THE OUTSIDE IN!

DOUBLE GLAZING

Our energy efficient double glazing is designed to ensure minimal heat loss and is standard on all our 2018 homes.

CLADDING

We offer a wide variety of cladding finishes and window frame colours for you to choose from - check our guide on pages 112-113.

WARRANTIES

Our schemes are the most comprehensive in the industry and offer you unrivalled cover, and most of all, peace of mind. See page 114.

INTEGRATED BLUETOOTH MUSIC SYSTEM

Kick back, relax and crank up the music with a Bluetooth music system. Ask us for more details.

BEDDING PACKS

Our beautiful bed linen is available to order in three colours, perfectly co-ordinated to complement your new home.

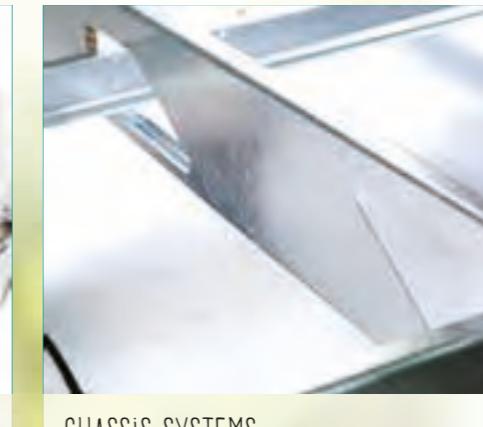

COMFORT PLUS MATTRESSES

Upgrade to this premium mattress and drift into a deep sleep.

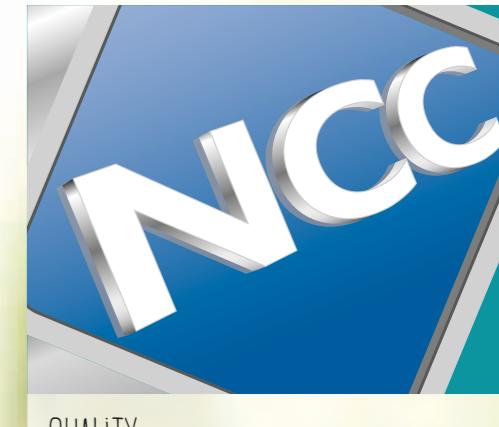

TRACE HEATING

To reduce the threat of frozen pipes in winter we can offer trace heating, which involves installing self-regulating heating cable along the pipework underneath your holiday home. Clever stuff!

CHASSIS SYSTEMS

Our chassis have been highly engineered to cater for the rigours of transportation, prolonged usage and withstanding extreme weather. Check the guide on our website to find out more.

QUALITY

Every single one of our homes exceeds the legislation requirements set by British Standards and the NCC (National Caravan Council) so you can be assured of a great quality holiday home. Not sure what the standards mean? Check out our separate section on page 115.

SAFETY

We always have your safety in mind and your home comes with a variety of safety features; including a fire extinguisher, smoke alarm, carbon monoxide detector and flame retardant furnishings.

CENTRAL HEATING

You can install a gas fired central heating system in all of our homes and it comes with valves so you can control the heat. Look out for our 'A' rated condensing boiler, making your fuel - and pounds - go further. Ask us about our electric heating system too.

THERMAL & EFFICIENCY RATINGS

We want to keep you snug and your bills low so we work hard to ensure our energy and efficiency ratings are the best in the industry. See page 115.

USB PORTS

We know being connected is important to you so we have put a USB port in many of our holiday homes, situated in useful locations with your safety in mind. If your home doesn't have one as standard you can always have one fitted.

ECO PACK

We have a green conscience so have developed the Eco Pack to help reduce water and energy consumption. Our thermostatically controlled valve saves energy during firing; we've reduced cistern flushes and can put in multi-position taps, aerated shower and tap fittings.

QUALITY CRAFTSMANSHIP

Not everyone knows that Willerby manufactures a lot of its own furniture. With skills crafted over 70 years, it's a fascinating place to watch master craftsmen at work.

WHAT DO THE STANDARDS MEAN TO ME?

You might hear people mentioning EN and BS standards to you. All Willerby's holiday homes exceed the requirements to ensure you have a quality product. Here's a helpful guide to what it means

EN 1647

This is the European industry wide regulation for the manufacture of holiday homes. The specification means that the home should be suitable for seasonal or holiday accommodation and not as a permanent residence.

BS 3632 (2015)

If you want to live in your holiday accommodation all year round (residential) then your home should be manufactured to this standard. It means it is made more suitable for year round living, including safety, acoustic and thermal insulation, gas central heating, thermal performance double glazing and enhanced ventilation.

STRUCTURAL THERMAL AND ENERGY EFFICIENCY RATING SCHEMES

OLIDAY HOME SPECIFICATION EN 1647

The NCC Structural Thermal Rating Scheme is designed to give purchasers of Caravan Holiday homes an indication of the likely thermal efficiency of the homes they are considering.

The scheme takes into consideration the insulation qualities of the fabric of the home and the amount of energy required to heat the air passing through the home.

The calculator generates a rating label giving an indication of the fabric and ventilation heat losses. Given that Caravan Holiday Homes are designed for holiday occupancy, they are given a rating that assumes that the home isn't used during the coldest part of the year from the beginning of December until the end of February.

The ratings are based on the calculated seasonal heating load per square metre of floor area. A score of between 1 and 10 is awarded to each home based upon its thermal rating. The most thermally efficient homes are those with a high numerical rating. Scores in the upper end of the scale represent industry leading constructions.

The seasonal rating provided, enables end-users to compare the typical energy consumption of homes that are of a similar plan area and that are only used in the warmer months.

Homes with features such as double glazing and enhanced insulation packages are likely to have a higher rating than those of more basic construction. Homes with larger floor areas will score more highly than those of identical construction with smaller footprints, care should therefore be taken to only directly compare homes of similar sizes.

RESIDENTIAL SPECIFICATION BS 3632 (2015)

The NCC Energy Efficiency Rating Scheme is designed to give purchasers of Residential Park Homes an indication of the likely energy consumption and Carbon Dioxide (CO₂) emissions of the homes they are considering.

The scheme takes into consideration the insulation qualities of the fabric of the home, the amount of energy required to heat the air passing through the home and the efficiency of the central heating and water heating equipment, as well as the energy consumed by the fixed lighting equipment.

Using Degree Day Data, the calculator generates a rating label giving an indication of the total energy consumption. 12-month residential occupancy is assumed.

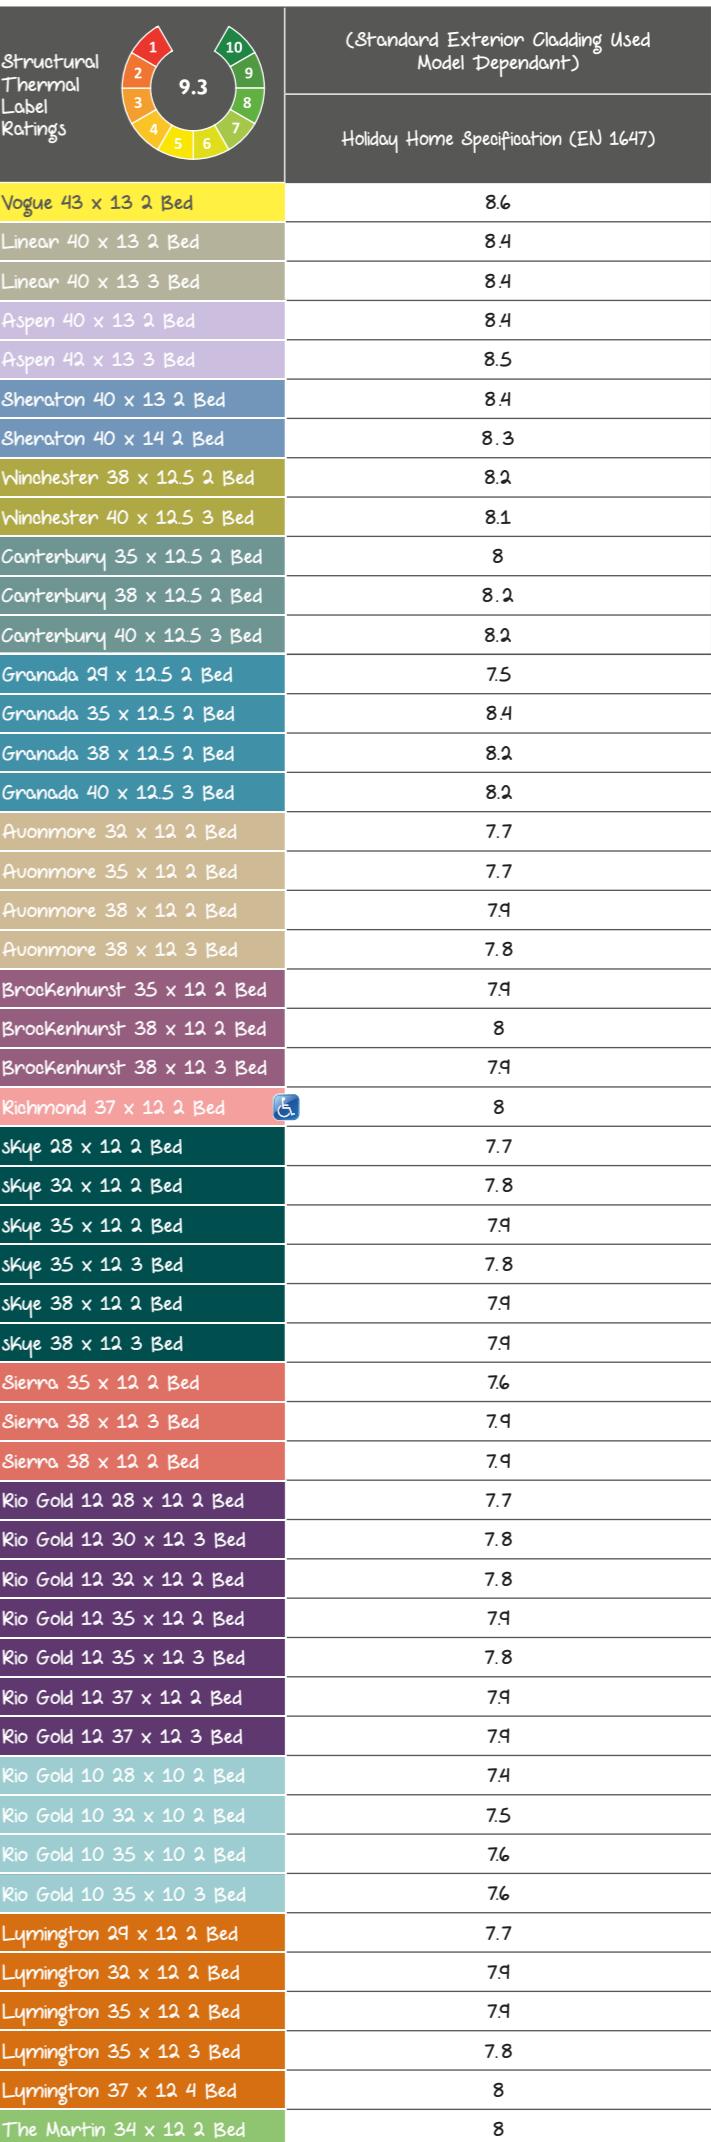

common with other energy efficiency rating scales, the most efficient homes are those with a rating at the green end of the scale whilst the least efficient will have a rating in the red zone.

The ratings are based on the calculated energy consumption per square metre of floor area. An estimate of the Carbon Dioxide emissions per square metre of floor area is also provided.

Homes with features such as gas central heating and double glazing are likely to have a higher rating than equivalent electrically heated ones because of the additional losses incurred by centrally generated and distributed electricity.

omes that have a lower occupancy are likely to have higher rating because of the reduced ventilation, lighting and domestic hot water.

Please note that ratings for Residential Specification BS 3632 (2015) are calculated on an individual model basis. Ratings shown are for standard models. Ratings will be affected by cladding options.

THE WILLERBY FAMILY 2018

This year, we ran our 'brochure family' competition again amongst Willerby employees. We had dozens of entries and shortlisted three before asking staff to vote for their winner.

Sam Buckley, our maintenance engineering manager, along with his partner Becky, and their three delightful children - Ella (10), Poppy (7) and Alice (18 months) - were the chosen family!

We took them on location to Tattershall Lakes in Lincolnshire. The park, which is owned by Away Resorts, is packed full of exciting activities for all the family to enjoy.

Thank you so much to our Willerby family and to Tattershall Lakes for their hospitality over the weekend photoshoot.

Thanks also to Away Resorts who kindly donated a week's holiday as a prize for our family to enjoy in 2018.

Quality

Welcome to AB SUNDECKS, the home of lifestyle decking

As well as providing all important access to your holiday home, a deck brings a multitude of benefits, from creating a safe environment for the children to play in, to keeping pets contained, but perhaps most importantly it creates a link between your holiday home and the outside world, delivering a fantastic additional space to help maximise your all-important leisure time. When it comes to construction a decking revolution has already begun...

All over the country holiday home owners are discovering that their timber deck solutions require a great deal of maintenance and have a limited life span. By its very nature timber requires painting, staining or oiling and is prone to cracking, warping and rot. That's why many owners are turning to steel subframe systems to mitigate the issues that come from more traditional construction methods.

From simple access steps to elaborate bespoke designs, steel framed systems incorporating wood-free boards and posts can be built to match your requirements. What's more, they resist weather damage, are easy to maintain and are aesthetically pleasing.
